What's special about the Ides of March 2013?

That is the date that "Tarheels in Your Family Tree," Part II will be presented, without cost, from the NCGS website <http://www.ncgenealogy.org>. The video, a continuation of Helen Leary's lecture on the genealogy of North Carolina, will be free for two additional days. After March 17 the video will be accessible to NCGS members from the members only section of the NCGS website.

Ms. Leary provides us, through example, a continued exploration of the political changes within North Carolina and the records that resulted. She continues with explanations of direct and indirect evidence, original and derivative records, and the places to find them, plus much more.

Helen Leary is renowned as a genealogist, author, speaker, teacher and mentor. Her knowledge is shared in the webinar and in the text she edited, North Carolina Research: Genealogy and Local History. This volume is used as the text for the NCGS webinar series. It is available at the NCGS online bookstore at <http://www.ncgenealogy.org>.

Did you miss the first part of "Tarheels In Your Family Tree?" Members can see it in the members only section of the NCGS website. Anyone can purchase the CD from the NCGS online bookstore.

The North Carolina Genealogical Society

PO Box 30815

Raleigh, NC 27622-0815

Society Goals

The North Carolina Genealogical Society, chartered in 1974, is open to all who are interested in genealogical or historical research and in these goals:

- ▶ to increase interest in and raise the standards of research and compilation by means of educational programs and publications;
- ▶ to acquaint members with research sources and materials in North Carolina and elsewhere;
- ▶ to serve as a medium of exchange of genealogical information; and
- ▶ to promote the collection, preservation, and utilization of manuscripts, documents, and other materials of genealogical and historical value.

While not maintaining a library of its own, the society promotes and encourages the development of the many fine research centers across the state. Books given to the society for review in the NCGS Journal are donated to the Genealogy Collection of the State Library of North Carolina in Raleigh, North Carolina.

NCGS Statement Code of Ethics

The North Carolina Genealogical Society encourages researchers to uphold high standards for their genealogical research, analysis, and publication. Care should be taken to document properly all information included in a genealogical work. Researchers should remember that the original document is the proper source for all information.

When the original cannot be found, careful analysis of secondary materials (including Internet sites) should be fully explained and sources cited.

Given modern technology and the ease of accessing information on the Internet, researchers are encouraged to respect the privacy of all living individuals by not sharing personal information via electronic media.

While the courts have not yet fully tested copyright issues involving the Internet, the same respect should be paid to information found on the Internet as is paid to information in printed works bearing notice of copyright. Under United States copyright law, an individual's intellectual output is protected whether or not it bears a copyright notice or symbol and regardless of the medium in which it appears.

NCGS Journal

Larry W. Cates, MLIS, Editor

The North Carolina Genealogical Society Journal is published quarterly in February, May, August, and November. Submit articles, comments, questions, and suggestions to Larry Cates, at JournalEditor@ncgenealogy.org.

NCGS News

Phyllis Matthews Ziller, MLIS, Editor

NCGS News, the newsletter of the North Carolina Genealogical Society, is published bimonthly in January, March, May, July, September, and November. Submit articles, comments, and suggestions to Phyllis Matthews Ziller at NCGSNewsEditor@ncgenealogy.org.

---

NCGS Memberships

NCGS 12-month memberships are $40 for individuals and institutions, $45 for families (same residence), and $100 for patrons.

Members receive two publications: the quarterly NCGS Journal and the bi-monthly NCGS News. Members are also invited to attend, at a discount, the NCGS annual meeting and workshop and all other NCGS-sponsored programs.

A note regarding genealogical credentials: Certified Genealogist (CG) and Certified Genealogical Lecturer (CGL) are proprietary service marks of the Board for Certification of Genealogists® used by the Board to identify its program of genealogical competency evaluation and used under license to by Board's certificants.

President's Message

by President Victor T. Jones Jr.

Spring is coming—that time of year when flowers bloom, trees start budding, and many people begin spring cleaning. If you are like me, you have mounds and mounds of photocopies just waiting to be filed. I always mean to get around to it and, before you know it, more papers pile on top.

Genealogy research sometimes needs a good spring cleaning, too. Take a few minutes each day to go through that stack of paper or your files. Is that fifth copy of the same deed really needed? Or, do you really need to keep that envelope with the coffee stain and your cousin's now disconnected phone number?

If you feel really ambitious about cleaning, you may want to start digitizing your files and going paperless. I'm not quite there yet, but I have been entertaining the thought more and more. If you do digitize your files, just make sure you back up your digitized files.

Now, I need to get back to my spring cleaning, but before I do, let me introduce you to a new NCGS board member. I recently appointed Carolyn Gibbons of Fayetteville to fill the unexpired term of Lucinda Glover. Carolyn will also chair the Programming Committee. She is a member of several local and national genealogical societies and has published two books of marriage abstracts in Howard County, Missouri; one book of Cumberland County, North Carolina, Court of Pleas and Quarter Sessions abstracts; and Will Book A for Harnett County, North Carolina. Carolyn has also volunteered at her local Family History Center for about twenty-five years. Welcome to the NCGS Board of Directors, Carolyn!

Auditor Needed

We need your help. NCGS is looking for a volunteer to audit the society's financial records. The individual should have an accounting or financial background and will be expected to write a brief analysis of the findings. Please contact our treasurer Judi Hinton at treasurer@ncgenealogy.org if you are interested in helping the society with the audit.

Welcome, New Members

We are glad you joined the North Carolina Genealogical Society at this exciting time. You are part of an organization that is committed to preserving the genealogical process through education and partnerships with genealogical societies and libraries throughout the state.

Who is YOUR Ancestor?

presented by the North Carolina Genealogical Society
and the Caswell County Historical Association

George G. Morgan

6 April 2013 ♦ 9:00 a.m.–3:45 p.m.

Central Caswell Ruritan Club, 820 County Home Road, Blanch, NC 27212
(Located behind the Caswell County Animal Shelter; follow the orange NCGS signs.)

Registration begins at 9:00

The first lecture begins at 9:30

Buffet Lunch included in registration fee

George G. Morgan, well known as one of the Genealogy Guys, will present four lectures planned to provide greater understanding of the tools to move you to new information about your ancestors.

- ▶ Push and Pull: The Reasons for Migration
- ▶ Genealogy Orienteering
- ▶ Alternate Records You May Never Have Considered
- ▶ Bring ‘Em Back to Life: Developing an Ancestor Profile

George G. Morgan is the president of Aha! Seminars, Inc., and is an internationally recognized genealogy expert who presents at local, state, national, and international genealogical conferences.

George is the prolific author of literally hundreds of articles for magazines, journals, and newsletters both in genealogical publications and online. McGraw-Hill has published his tenth book, the third edition of his How to Do Everything: Genealogy, in 2012. He and Drew Smith are currently working on another book.

George is Vice President of Membership for the Federation of Genealogical Societies. He is a member of the Association of Professional Genealogists and many other societies in the US and the UK.

George and Drew Smith produce The Genealogy Guys<sup>SM</sup> Podcast on the Internet at <http://www.genealogyguys.com>. It is the longest running genealogical podcast in the world, with thousands of listeners around the globe.

Member's Corner

The response to our sending the NCGS newsletter in electronic format has been overwhelmingly positive. We thank all our members for their understanding as we phase out mailing our newsletter to go paperless. As you know, going green not only allows us to be environmentally responsible, but it keeps our membership dues at 2012 levels and enables us to send two additional issues of the NCGS News per year (bringing the total number of issues per year to six). Therefore, as of 1 June 2013, a paper subscription to our newsletter will no longer be included in your individual and family membership dues. If we do not have your e-mail address, please send it to info@ncgenealogy.org and you will receive our newsletter via e-mail.

We understand, however, not everyone is able to receive an electronic copy of our newsletter. Those who need to receive a paper copy of the NCGS News will have the option of doing so at an annual subscription rate of $10, which covers the cost of printing and mailing six issues of the newsletter.

If you choose to receive NCGS News as a paper copy, please contact the North Carolina Genealogical Society Membership Committee at members@ncgenealogy.org or write us at North Carolina Genealogical Society, PO Box 30815, Raleigh, NC 27622-0815. We will get you set up to receive your paper copy.

This change only affects the NCGS News newsletter. Everyone will continue to receive a paper copy of the quarterly NCGS Journal.

As always, we value your membership and appreciate your support and understanding while we make this transition. If you have questions, please contact the Membership Chair, Cindy Born-Mylo, at members@ncgenealogy.org if you have any questions.

The deadline for the next issue of the NCGS News is Monday, April 15.

2013 NCGS Awards

The deadline for submitting nominations for the annual NCGS Awards to honor outstanding contributions to the North Carolina genealogical community is getting nearer.

This year's deadline is 15 August 2013.

These awards promote continued excellence in North Carolina genealogy and also inspire others to publish abstracts and transcriptions of North Carolina county and state records, cemetery and Bible records, family histories, and society journals and newsletters and to develop informative genealogical websites. The Awards Committee urges you to join the society in recognizing the labors of deserving individuals and societies by submitting a nomination for an award in one of several categories. The categories are listed on the nomination form on page 7.

Each submission requires a nomination form (see page 7) that should be mailed to NCGS Awards, PO Box 30815, Raleigh, NC 27622-0815. A copy of any publication being nominated must accompany the submission as well as complete contact information and any relevant supporting material, data, or additional written endorsement. Please include the latest four (4) issues of a nominated newsletter or journal. Closing date for submissions is 15 August 2013.

Nominations are reviewed by a panel of judges, and awards will be presented during the NCGS Annual Meeting to be held on 9 November 2013. Printed materials should properly cite their sources. Submissions of printed material are donated to the State Library of North Carolina in Raleigh after the judging process.

If you have questions, please send an e-mail to Pam Toms, Awards Chair, awards@ncgenealogy.org.

Guidelines for NCGS awards for genealogical publications or websites worthy of consideration for nomination can be found on the NCGS website at: <http://www.ncgenealogy.org/images/stories/forms/2012-awards-guidelines.pdf>.

North Carolina Loose Estates Indexing Project Update

As of January 2013, the North Carolina Loose Estates Indexing Project volunteers have completed the following:

- Total number of images indexed and freely available: 3,371,321
- Number of indexed estate records: 138,899
- Number of counties completely indexed: 68 (out of 100)

Explore the results of this project for yourself at <http://bit.ly/nc-loose-estates> or log onto the FamilySearch website at <https://familysearch.org>, click on All Record Collections in the Browse by Location section, then type “North Carolina, Estate Files” in the search box. Don’t see your county of interest? Please consider joining as a volunteer indexer. All you need is a computer and Internet access. The software is provided and a video tutorial and Wiki page have been created to answer any questions.

Will you donate a little of your time?

For more information, or to volunteer, please contact Vickie Scott at firstvicepresident@ncgenealogy.org.

Thank you, Volunteers!

We want to thank the following volunteers who have contributed their time and effort to the North Carolina Loose Estates Indexing Project since the end of October:

Coming in June

Overlooked Genealogy Sources

Saturday, 8 June 2013 at the ImaginOn Center in Charlotte, North Carolina

J. Mark Lowe, CG, FUGA, will provide four sessions to inform his audience of genealogical sources frequently overlooked. His lectures are:

- Follow a Case Through Court
- Road Crews, Jury Selection, and Daily Court Action: Finding an Ancestor without a Census
- Trails of Daniel Boone and Other Western Travelers
- Finding Your Landless Ancestors

Plan to come, listen to Mark, and hear of the other options available to find your elusive ancestors. Registration is required for this event. Registration and further information is available at <http://www.ncgenealogy.org>.

Free Program sponsored by the Charlotte Mecklenburg Library

The Robinson-Spangler North Carolina Room will host J. Mark Lowe, CG, FUGA, at 6:30 p.m. on Friday, 7 June 2013, in the Francis Room, lower level, at the Charlotte Mecklenburg Library, 310 N. Tryon Street, Charlotte, NC 28202. Mr. Lowe’s presentation, “Diamonds, River Rocks, and Lumps of Coal,” will provide an understanding of the connection of people, places, and events of our ancestors’ lives and how unique stories of their lives unfold. The Friday event is free and open to the public. Registration for the Friday evening event is not required.

Volunteer Corner

You, as a member of NCGS, have skills and talents that have been acquired in many ways, such as educational background, work experiences, other volunteer activities, and various life experiences. Your skills and talents can be put to use with NCGS to help the organization reach its goals and become even stronger. There are several new volunteer requests, so please check out the list below and see where you can use your talents and skills to help the society.

Do you enjoy doing creative writing?

The NCGS publicity committee is seeking to expand and needs several creative writers to assist with writing articles and other publicity for programs and webinars. Guidance will be provided.

Do you like to use technology? The Webinar Committee can use you!

Volunteers are needed to begin training for delivering upcoming NCGS webinars planned for 2013. You must have access to reliable Internet access, headphones and a microphone, and a curiosity in this new delivery form. This can be done from wherever you live. Training is required and offered for all those interested.

Do you enjoy reading the NCGS Journal and would you like to be a part of that publication? Then consider the following:

- Submit carefully researched and well-documented case studies and methodological articles as well as source material and fillers.
- Submit transcriptions and abstracts of original documents of North Carolina genealogical significance.
- Act as a second reader to help decipher difficult signatures in North Carolina legislative petitions at the North Carolina State Archives, once per quarter.

Are you interested in helping fellow genealogists with their research?

Would you like to be part of an effort that would benefit people everywhere with North Carolina ancestors? Then consider the following Loose Estates Indexing Project:

- Help create a decedent surname index of all extant loose estate records in conjunction with Family Search and the North Carolina State Archives. This can be done from volunteer's home who has Internet access. Training is provided.

Do you like to attend the NCGS workshops?

There is always a need for volunteers to help behind the scenes to make these events run smoothly. Watch the website and the newsletters for upcoming workshops. Volunteer needs include the following:

- Help stuff the program packets, usually on the day before and at a place in Raleigh, TBA.
- Put out any NCGS directional signs that are needed on the day of the workshop.
- Help with registration.

Do you like doing organizational work?

Be more involved with the organization part of NCGS by serving on one of the following NCGS committees:

Nominating Committee

- Help secure members willing to serve in various positions.

Program Committee

- Assist with the planning and implementation of programs and workshops.

There is something above for everyone regardless of your talents, skills, and interests! Consider where you would like to serve. If you have an interest or skill not listed above let me know. I look forward to hearing from you.

Mabel O. Dillard, Volunteer Coordinator
Volunteer@ncgenealogy.org

Understanding the Lingo: A Tool for Solving Genealogical Problems

by Terry Moore, CG

When my husband first began texting, our children said they needed a Rosetta Stone to translate what he typed and sent. The problem was three-fold: first, he didn't know the standard abbreviations that experienced texters used; second, he made up his own abbreviations; and third, his big thumbs would hit the wrong keys. It took me a while to learn that LOL means laugh out loud, MT means empty, N means no, and NMP means not my problem. The list of abbreviations is almost endless. It's a new language and if you don't read text, you might not understand the message. The same is true of old historical documents; if we don't understand what their abbreviations meant or how words were used, we won't understand the messages our ancestors are sending us.

Language is constantly changing and, when dealing with language from another time period, there are always problems with semantics. Understanding the language can shed a whole new light on solving a genealogical brick wall. The four criteria used to identify individuals in time—name, date, place, and relationships—all have their own language anomalies.

Nicknames

A diminutive, or “nickname,” is a shortened or substituted version of a proper name. Some make sense while some do not and if you are not familiar with nicknames you might not recognize individuals of different names as the same person. For example: Bell for Isabell, Becca for Rebecca, Cass for Cassandra, Alex for Alexander, and Bart for Bartholomew make sense. Molly for Emily, Polly or Molly for Mary, Patsy or Patty for Martha, Nancy for Ann, Agnes for Nancy, Willis for Willoughby, Kit for Christopher, Nab for Abel, Tad for Thaddeus, and Ted for Edward may not be so intuitive. Lists of nicknames can be found in the following publications:

- Evans, Barbara Jean, A to Zax, A Comprehensive Dictionary for Genealogists & Historians. Alexandria, Virginia: Hearthside Press, 1995.
- May, Elizabeth White, “The Dilemma of Nicknames.” Wake County Treasures (Spring 1994).

- Rose, Christine, Nicknames: Past and Present. San Jose, California: Rose Family Association, c2002.

Abbreviations

Abbreviations for names are often found in documents. When recording an abbreviated name, leave it in the form you found it; resist the temptation to spell the name out because you may misinterpret the abbreviation and record the wrong name. Some examples of abbreviations are Abra<sup>m</sup> for Abraham; Benj<sup>a</sup>, Benj<sup>n</sup>, Benj, for Benjamin; Cha<sup>s</sup>, Char<sup>s</sup>, Chas. for Charles; X<sup>r</sup>, Xopher, Xofer for Christopher; Geo, G<sup>o</sup> for George; Ja<sup>s</sup>, Jas, for James, which is easy to confuse with Jo<sup>s</sup>, Jos for Joseph; Jno or Jn<sup>o</sup> for John; and Will, Wm, W<sup>m</sup> for William. Benj<sup>a</sup> could also be an abbreviation for Benajah, so again it is important to record the abbreviation as it was recorded.

Titles

Titles were also used and understanding their meanings tells us something about the person bearing the title. In England, someone bearing the title of Esquire was able to bear arms. In the United States our usage of this term was more flexible; it was also used by the social elite, such as lawyers, doctors, clergy, large land owners, magistrates, Justices of the Peace, and important political figures. The title Gentleman was just a step down from Esquire. A farmer, who usually owned more than 100 acres, was called a planter; later the word planter also came to mean a man of affluence. A yeoman was a man, who owned a small amount of land that was used for his own support. Colonel was a title used by old southern planters and usually had nothing to do with military service. Although a minister might use the title Reverend, it was also used as a given name.

Among the early colonists Mr. and Mrs. were used only in upper class families. Mrs. did not necessarily identify a married woman but was used as a title of courtesy identifying a woman of “genteel” birth, married or single. Goodman and Goodwife, in early records, were used to identify the head and mistress of a household.

Junior and senior in modern usage means father and son but in earlier times these titles were used to differentiate two individuals of the same name living in the same place. They were often uncle and nephew. Watch for changes: when Sr. died, Jr. could become Sr. and someone of a younger generation could become Jr.

Calendar

The Julian calendar was the old style calendar and the Gregorian calendar is the new style. In 1582 Pope Gregory XIII reformed the Julian calendar to remove mathematical errors that were causing the dates to move out of line with the seasons. His calendar was adopted by many Christian nations and countries; however, England and her colonies, with the exception of Scotland, did not adopt the Gregorian calendar until September of 1752.

The Julian calendar was an ecclesiastical calendar and its new year started on 25 March (9 months before the celebration of Christ's birth). All of March was considered to be the first month. If you are searching in a church or town record book that uses the Julian calendar, the dates could cause confusion. If two children with parents of the same names were born 1 April 1720 and 10 February 1720, it would appear that an error was made in recording the dates or that they were not children of the same couple. You might conclude they could not both be your ancestor's children and that there were two couples of the same name in the parish. However, in Julian time one child was born the second month of the year (April) and the second child was born the twelfth month of the same year (February).

Problems interpreting dates occurred when the calendar changed from the Julian to the Gregorian. A date could be off by a year. The Gregorian calendar began its new year on 1 January. Use "double dating" whenever a date falls between 1 January and 25 March before 1752; the date should be recorded to reflect both the Julian and Gregorian calendars (1731/32). The Julian calendar was 10 days behind the Gregorian calendar from 1582 through February of 1700 and eleven days behind from March 1700 through early September 1752. To make up the difference in the calendars, eleven days were dropped from the calendar in September 1752. You may find references to the first month, second month, etc. Remember that the first month was March before 1752.

Change In How Members Receive Workshop Registration Flyers

Efforts to keep membership fees from rising prompted a recent decision by the NCGS Board of Directors: Workshop registration flyers will no longer be sent in a separate postal mailing. Rising costs of both printing and postage spurred the change.

Workshop (program) registration flyers will always be found in the NCGS News newsletters, which are published bimonthly, as well as online at the NCGS website (<http://www.ncgenealogy.org>).

Accessions at the North Carolina State Archives

March 2013

Contributed by Debbi Blake, Public Services Branch Supervisor, Office of Archives and History

This is a partial listing of accessions at the North Carolina State Archives. For a complete listing please see our website: <http://www.dcr.state.nc.us>. Please be aware that not all of these records are currently available for research. Cards will be placed in the card catalog or entries made in the appropriate finding aids when these items have been arranged and are ready for research. The phrase ATM that appears at the end of certain accession entries indicates a listing has been accessioned previously, but is being accessioned again because either new material has been added or there has been a change in accessioning data. WRA indicates that the collection is housed at the Western Regional Archives in Asheville.

Who is YOUR Ancestor?

presented by the North Carolina Genealogical Society
and the Caswell County Historical Association

George G. Morgan

6 April 2013 • 9:00 a.m.–3:45 p.m.

Central Caswell Ruritan Club, 820 County Home Road, Blanch, NC 27212
(Located behind the Caswell County Animal Shelter; follow the orange NCGS signs.)

Directions: see www.NCGenealogy.org

Hotel: Days Inn, 1858 NC Hwy. 86 North, Yanceyville, NC 27379

Registration begins at 9:00

The first lecture begins at 9:30

Buffet Lunch included in registration fee

Push and Pull: The Reasons for Migration—Why did your ancestors migrate from place to place? This session examines some of the reasons why it is important to become a student of history, geography, and sociology in order to understand and trace your ancestors' movements.

Genealogy Orienteering—Maps provide boundaries and jurisdictions important to our research. This seminar presents and discusses a simple, efficient methodology and resources to help you use maps to quickly and effectively locate the right place to conduct your research.

Alternate Records You May Never Have Considered—This seminar explores a number of record types that most genealogists skip or gloss over, and reexamines less frequently consulted portions of familiar records. These records can provide new clues and insights to open new research doors and help break down brick walls.

Bring 'Em Back to Life—Organizing the information we collect on our ancestors into a biographical profile can help you begin to recognize character traits and decision patterns. The profile also provides an invaluable, portable research tool that avoids your taking voluminous amounts of notes with you on research trips.

Walk-ins are welcome; however, the workshop packet or lunch may not be available.

Refund policy: Full refund if withdrawal precedes 27 March; between then and 6 April a prorated refund may be made; no refund may be made if withdrawal is on the day of the workshop.

Any changes, including those due to inclement weather conditions, will be posted on the NCGS website: www.ncgenealogy.org.
